The "Wearing of the Green" by D. G. Griffin, of Watertown, was apwas cheered, and one delegate arose in it to a meeting of the full Committee "There's our challenge to the A. P. A." this morning. The sub-committee met immediately after adjournment of the The Casino in which the Convention tet is a barnlike structure, which was full Committee. Among those who apformerly used as a skating rink. It peared before it were Mrs. Greenleaf and Miss Susan B. Anthony, of Rocheshas not been used for several years, and Miss Susan B. Anthony, of Roomes-and had to be fitted up hastily for the ccasion. A platform had to be conform.

A committee from the Tax Reform Association, composed of Thomas G. Shearman, Fred W. Hinrichs, Robert Baker, Alfred B. Masson and Botten Hall, appeared before the Committee and asked for the insertion of this plank:

Aust before 12 o'clock the Fairchild burdens on personality, farms and improvements delegates, who, rumor had it, were to be reported adversely upon by the Com-mittee on Contested Seats, marched into Labor Unions Seek Relief. ttee on Contested Seats, marched into men's Assembly and other labor bodies, hall. They were escorted to seats headed by James H. Dulin, of Albany, presented an address from the labor or-ganizations of the State, relating that for years they have importuned the Leg-isiature to repeal the odious Conspiracy iaw, and that they now appeal to the Democratic party to assist them in what has been denied them by the Republican Legislature, and embody in the platform an indorsement of the measure known as the Anti-Conspiracy law. The Com-mittee promised to give the matter at-tention, and later decided to put in the platform a plank favoring more equal conspiracy laws, under which labor should be protected as well as capital.

The outline of the platform as adopted by the sub-committee to be presented to the full Committee this morning is as follows:

Congratulates the Democratic Administration on the careful and conscientious manner in which the business of the country is attended to by the appointment of efficient officers to the heads of public departments. Congratulates the party upon the repeal of the Sherman law, which was eating out the vitals of the financial body politic; upon the repeal of the partisan legislation known as the Federal Elections is which will lessen the expenditures of the nation by millions and promote pure elections. Congratulates the party that with Democratic ascendancy the country returns to simple methods and sound principles. Declares that the abolition of the McKinley Tariff law and the enaciment of a new tariff measure are in accordance with the platform of the Democratic party at Chicago.

The Tariff.

The Tariff. Asserts that the new Tariff law will be a wise and excellent substitute for the partisan McKiniey bill, and as a whole will help the people and the country. Declares against future amendments of the tariff by revision as a whole, but contends that necessary alterations can be made by the passage of special laws relating to the removal of the duty from raw materials only.

There are plants of the removal of the duty from raw materials only.

Business Interests. Congratulates the country upon the revival of business interests, and believes that this revival will continue now that the tariff matter is definitely settled. Asserts that the financial and business depression was not caused entirely by any action of the Democratic party, but was a necessary accompaniment to any general tariff revision—a revision that was inevitable because the McKinley law has proved utterly inadequate to meet the necessities of Government, and would have caused virtually a bankrupt treasury.

a bankrupt treasury. Labor Matters.

Declares that the interests of labor should be fostered by proper and necessary legislation, and that honest workingmen should be protected from competition with convict labor, and points out the fact that the Democratic minority in the Constitutional Convention succeeded in passing a measure to restrict prison labor. Advocates the amending of present conspiracy laws, so as to more equally protect the workingman and the employer.

For Equal Rights.

Declares against any class legislation which shall, in violation of the Constitution, prohibit or interfere with the free exercise of any form of religious worship; and deprecates any erganization which would tend to any such result.

Constitutional Convention.

Declares that the work of the Constitutional Convention as a whole was partisan, is intended to aid in perpetuating the Republican party in its control of the State. Declares the apportionment measure a gerrymander, and asserts that it discriminates against the cities as in favor of the country districts; and demands an apportionment which shall recognize the equality of every citizen, so that the laboring man in the city shall count as much as the wealthy man.

The platform will, in the usual manner, call attention to the fallings of the opposite party, commend the administration of Gov. Flower and the National Administration. It will in no way mention the income tax.

Mangled Some in Committee.

The Committee on Platform went into secret session about 10 o'clock this morning, and for two hours discussed the platform as presented by the sub-committee at great length. The principal discussion came up on the tariff indorsement and a proposition advanced by Mr. Sheehan to condemn the income tax.

Mr. Sheehan to condemn the income tax.

Bourke Cockran grew very wrathy over the matter, and those in the hall heard him declare that under no circumstances should the party indorse the tariff bil as a whole. Instead, it should declare for some features. This caused a long wrangle.

As to the income tax, there was a proposition to denounce it in wild terms as a heavily weighted tail to the tariff measure. This, too, caused opposition, and so the differences were fought over until the hour of convening had arrived, and when the Committee finished there was a mangling of the document that it took the typewriter some time to straighten out. As it will be presented, however, it is not much changed from the features presented above.

The plaintiff testified to the date of his marriage to defendant and the usual facts that his wife's offense had been committed without his consent or connivance, and that he had not condoned the offense.

One or two witnesses testified that since Mrs. Wolrhade had separated from her husband she had been living with another man as his wife.

After the wound was dressed he was removed to Relievue Hospital. He began to talk wildly. Another Italian told the police the man was accusing some one of having tried to put a bullet through his breast. The police questioned Columbo closely, and he admitted that a cripple, whose name he would not divulge, fired at his heart, but said that he struck the weapon, deflecting the course of the builet. A few moments after he made this statement he denied it. Then again he persisted that it was true. The police will investigate.
